CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, May 2.—There was a gain of 17 cents in May wheat on the Board of Trade today, seless being made from 30 to 3.14 and a close of 3.14, compared with a resting spot of 2.5% on Thesday. The July future sold between 2.00 and 2.09%, compared with resting spots of 12% to 15½ lower on Tursday. The September between 2.00 and 2.09%, compared with resting spots of 12% to 15½ lower on Tursday. The May future was not only congested, but the deferred months were quite light and buyers wanting wheat for any delivery were obliged to bld up sensationally for it.

The scattered short interest in the May future is being gradually wiped out and any one who holds the smallest amount of this future should be willing to dispose of it and allow the shorts to get out of their dilemma without any further losses. There are some in the trade who believe that great, conservations should be used in putting out short lines of July and September wheat as those in a position to know advance the opinion that crops from this time forward will show some improvement. One may safely claim that at least 25,000,000 acres of wheat are in sight to be harrested. The conditions of wheat in May or even in June give no assertance of wheat is thin, but it is well rooted and has hed ecoeptionally favorable weather for stooling. She was a member of the famous yachting party which ac-companied Mr. Gladstone to Copenhagen when he had his interview with the Czar. Miss Tennant married an elderly man, comparatively speaking. It has been characteristic of her career that mature men found her more charming than youths, who were frightened by her nuickness of repartee and rather rough tongue. At social functions her circle of admirers had generally been composed of men old enough to be her father, and netimes as well known as they were

It is said that soon after her marriage
Mrs. Asquith went to a village merry-goround attired in red satin and rode with the children; her husband forbade her the children; her husband forbade her ever again to do anything which would call publicity upon herself, and since then she has not been the subject of any escapade. She was the first woman in England to play golf without a hat; she has beautiful hair, and believes the best way to keep it so is to go uncovered.
